

A New Scotch Health Resort.

THE recent completion of the hotel at Hillswick built by the North of Scotland and Orkney and Shetland Steam Navigation Company opens up a district of great fascination and interest which has hitherto, owing to the want of suitable accommodation, been practically inaccessible to the ordinary traveller or tourist. Having just revisited Hillswick under the improved conditions, I believe that some notes may be useful to your readers, for I am convinced that, so soon as this delightful spot becomes known, it will be a favourite resort for tourists in search of fine air, quiet, and comfort.

Anyone who, on being asked to-day to describe the exact position of Hillswick, or even of St. Magnus Bay, has to confess to complete ignorance on the subject, may well be pardoned. Comparatively few people visit any part of the Shetland Islands, and of those travellers who have been in the habit of going there, probably not one in five hundred has had any oppor-
